More Rain and Flood at Cherokee
Iowa.
CHEROKEE (Iowa), July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Cherokee county has again been visited by a disastrous rain and windstorm, continuing until 4 o'clock this morning. The creek reached a height only two feet lower than the high-water mark of last month, when it wrought such terrible havoc. Many residents on the flat became frightened and deserted their homes. Two houses which were removed from their foundations by the former flood were this morning carried

In the Sioux River and dashed to pieces against the Second-street bridge timbers, and the ruins of the last floor also swept against the bridge, which went out early this morning. Two other bridges in the city were also carried away. There were many wrecks.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Lieutenant-Commander Marthon of the U.S.S. Palawan, writing to his wife in this city from Kiangking, China, under date of June 19, says that he is well and that the ship is in good condition.

information from the Chinese customs clerk of the killing of two men by the rioters. Marthon visited the scene accompanied by guides from the Chinese gunboats, and found the body of a Missionary, Argent Irving, where fell in the gateway, at the door of the church, which had been pillaged by the rioters. The body of Customs-house Officer Greaves was found lying in the street seven squares distant. The body had been covered by mats. Just beyond were the walls of a dwelling house entirely destroyed. The house in the rear that one had been set on fire but did not burn. Marthon requested permission to take the bodies aboard.

The cause of the riot, he states, was the fact that Missionary Argent had picked up four little orphans in the country and was conveying them to Hankow in the usual fashion—in a kets bore on the shoulders of coolies. A street loafer asked one of the coolies what was in the basket. The latter refused to answer, the fellow raised lid of the basket, disclosing the children. The crowd which had gathered raised the cry that the missionaries were taking the children away to their eyes out, and forthwith attacked the church, killing Argent and plundering the place. Customs Officer Green was met by a mob and killed while on his way to assist the wives

On the return of the Palos from Wusich to Kiangking, word was received of an attempted riot in the city. Men were landed from the Palos, from the French frigate Inconstant and the German ship Otus to prevent the riot.

In closing his letter he says that Chinese do not want religion and that he has yet to meet the first Christian Chinese. The natives appear to be trouble-makers, missionaries have

SICK

Head-Aches

Sick-headaches are the outward indications of derangements of the stomach and bowels. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation of Sarsaparilla, it is seen why it is the only appropriate Sarsaparilla in sick-headaches. It is not only appropriate; it is an absolute cure. After a course of it an occasional dose at intervals will forever alter prevent return.

Jno. M. Cox, of 735 Turk Street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been troubled with attacks of sick-headaches for the last three years from one to three times a week. Some time ago I bought two bottles of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and have only had one attack since and that was on the second day after I began using it."

Fears That the Festival at Bayreuth Will Be a Failure.

French Hostilities to the World's Fair Owing to the New Tariff.

Serious Mutiny in the Famous Coldstream Guards—Another London Wedding in High Life—Notes.

By Telegram to The Times.

COPENHAGEN, July 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A newspaper in this city publishes what purports to be the text of a letter from Prince George of Greece, to his father, King George, giving an account of the attack made upon the Czarevitch in Japan. He tells about their visit at Kio and how they started for Olsic. In the afternoon as he was going through a narrow street Prince George heard a shriek and saw a policeman hitting the Czarevitch on the head with a sword. He continues:

"Nicky (the Czarevitch) jumped out of the cart and the man ran after Nicky, whose blood was streaming down his face. I too jumped out, stick in hand, and ran after Nicky. Nicky ran into a shop and came out immediately, which enabled the man to overtake him, but I thank God I arrived there at the same moment, and while the man had his sword high in the air I gave him a blow straight on the head and so hard that he probably never experienced a similar one. He now turned against me, but I fainted and fell to the ground. Then two of our pullers appeared. One of them caught hold of the man's legs, and the other caught up the sword which he had dropped, and gave the Czarevitch's assailant a wound on the back of the head. It is God who placed me there at that moment and gave me strength to give the blow. Had I been a little later the policeman would certainly have cut off Nicky's head. Had my blow missed my assailant's head he would have cut off mine."

"The whole thing was so quick that the others behind us had no time to do anything. Nicky sat down and a doctor bandaged his wound as well as he could, and we drove, escorted by soldiers, to the Governor's house. I must say I admired Nicky's pluck. He did not faint a single time, nor did he lose his good spirits for a moment. Yet he had two large wounds on his head, above the ear, one of five centimeters long and the other six. Both wounds penetrated to the skull, but no further. The regular bandaging of his head was done at our house at Kio and lasted an hour and a half. Nicky stood splendidly. When this was over he was quite well and had neither pain nor headache. When we had finished dinner he turned in and slept nine hours without waking. He had no fever and not even a headache during the day. Telegrams were simply showered in upon us from all parts of the world."

"That evening we received a telegram saying that Aunt Minn, (the Czarin) would feel more reassured if Nicky went on board as soon as possible. Consequently we left Kio the evening, going via rail to Kobe. Of course we had a grand reception on board. All officers of the squadron assembled and shouted hurrah. Nicky shook hands with all and went below. I had gone to the cabin to don my uniform, when the commanding officer came below and said the officers wanted to see me on deck. When I reached the deck they took hold of me and played off an exceptional Russian honor, signifying excessive joy with me, afterwards carrying me in triumph around the deck."

BRITISH TROOPS MUTINY.

Serious Revolt among the Famous Coldstream Guards.

LONDON, July 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Truth today prints another startling story of mutiny in the British army, which, it claims, occurred in the second battalion of the Coldstream Guards, quartered at Wellington barracks, near Buckingham Palace, where, incidentally, it furnished the guard of honor during the recent visit of Emperor William.

It seems that the extra duty thus necessitated was far from pleasant to the guardsmen, who have long been the pets of the British army. After the departure of the Emperor the guards expected a day of freedom from guard-mounting for recuperation. The men, however, were ordered to parade on parade duty as usual in full marching order. As a result, they became sullen and unmanageable, the first and third companies at first bluntly refusing to parade. The officers of these companies held a hurried consultation in a room of the barracks, and decided to proceed to a term of exile similar to the one the second battalion of Grenadier Guards was subjected to at Bermuda. As a result they argued the matter with the private, and the latter, under the prospect of exile from England. The private finally sullenly consented to parade, but his behavior became so glaringly insubordinate that the officers marched them back to the barracks and ordered the commands confined three days as punishment. Ten senior privates were also placed under arrest with a view of trial by court-martial for insubordination.

Ninety of the guardsmen thereupon barricaded themselves in a room of the barracks, refusing to emerge until their ten comrades should be guaranteed the same treatment as the others. Gen. Harding was finally called in, and by a judicious speech succeeded in quieting them.

The significance of the mutinous sentiment can be judged when it is understood the guards are the oldest corps in the army with a single exception.

FRANCE AND THE FAIR.

Influence of the McKinley Bill on the Exhibition.

PARIS, July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The Associated Press correspondent here has been making inquiries at the Chambers of Commerce in France as to the present feeling concerning the McKinley tariff, and as to whether this feeling will affect the French exhibit at Chicago. The vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of Algiers said that the chamber had passed a resolution not long ago declaring that the new tariff law tended to render very difficult, if not impossible, all trade between France and the United States.

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Roubaix said: "For the present at least the McKinley Bill is an obstacle to participation of our manufacturers in the Chicago exhibition, but if within a reasonable length of time a friendly spirit is shown by the American Republic for our productions, the chamber will then be ready to second the minister's efforts."

The president of the Chamber of Commerce of Roubaix writes that the McKinley tariff has produced most unfortunate impressions, and it is feared the Chicago exhibition will not have the reception here it would otherwise have had.

St. Etienne and Marseilles write to the same effect. The president of the Bordeaux Chamber says that, considering the unjust prohibition of American salt meats for years past, they are not surprised at the retaliation of the McKinley Bill.

PORTUGUESE STRIKERS.

Cork-workers at Lisbon Make Riotous Demonstrations. LISBON, July 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Two hundred men employed in the cork factory here, who have been thrown out of work through the operation of the United States tariff law, visited the factory and engaged in a riotous demonstration. The men demanded work and were finally dispersed by the police. The explanation of the demonstration is that nearly all the cork for America is exported raw and the cork workers with the authorities to raise the export duty on raw cork in the hope that America would admit hand-made cork at a lower duty and thus give employment to the cork workers of this city.

Troops are now protecting the large cork deposits opposite this city, which the desperate workers threaten to destroy by fire.

THE BAYREUTH FESTIVAL.

Some Critics Think It May Prove a Failure.

BAYREUTH, July 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The greatest interest of the musical public centered in today's production of the revised version of Tannhauser originally performed in Paris in 1861. The general opinion that this year's ensemble is inferior, though some individual artists are good, has been confirmed by today's rendering of Tannhauser. The consensus of opinion is that the Bayreuth festival is in danger, chiefly because Frau Wagner experiments too much with beginners and carries drilling too far, crushing individuality, creating artificiality and confining to the dimensions of a small room what is intended for a large stage.

FLOODS IN SILESIA.

Several Villages Inundated—A Valley Turned into a Lake.

BERLIN, July 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Floods are doing great damage in Silesia. The valley of the Neisse is like a lake, several villages are submerged and abandoned by the inhabitants. The town of Troppan in Austrian Silesia is inundated. Street traffic is carried on by means of boats. The rainstorms have done immense damage to crops in Silesia, Saxony and North Germany. Hamburg and suburbs are inundated. Some loss was caused by dock property being fired by lightning.

The Mountain Miners Expected to Agree to the Compromise—No Further Lawlessness So Far Reported.

By Telegram to The Times.

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.), July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Richardson today held a lengthy consultation with militia officers and miners' committee. Finally, this morning, he announced that he had decided to call an extra session of the Legislature, and had issued a call for an election to fill vacancies.

In the call for the special session, he will embody a recommendation that the convict lease system be modified, if not repealed. Pending the election, the convicts must return to the Briceville mines, from which they were evicted. If the miners agree not to molest them until the Legislature acts, the militia will be sent home.

The committee from the miners decided to lay the matter before a mass meeting of the men tomorrow before replying to the Governor. Those best acquainted with the mountain people believe the miners will accept the proposition. If they do not, the convicts will return to Coal Creek accompanied by militia. If the State troops cannot furnish adequate protection, the United States will be asked to send regulars.

Reports about riots today at Briceville are without foundation.

COAL CITY, (Tenn.), July 22.—All was quiet at noon. The miners are putting a guard around the company's property.

MORGAN ATTACKED.

A Catholic Bishop's Reply to the Commissioners. WHEELING (W. Va.), July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The Intelligencer tomorrow will print a letter from Bishop Kain of this (Catholic) diocese, in regard to Indian Commissioner Morgan's dispute with the Catholic Indian Bureau. He scores Morgan sharply, saying that since his induction into office the Commissioner has shown anti-Catholic bigotry. His inspector of schools is a Protestant minister, Rev. Dr. Dorchester, who has also been bitter against the Catholics.

Bishop Kain asserts that Morgan has dealt most unjustly with Catholic Indian schools, and in closing says: "If the administration continues to sustain the bigotry of Morgan and Dorchester it may regret its course, when Catholic votes are heard from in 1892."

The Intelligencer says that the suggestion in the closing paragraph is rather significant.

Steel Works Shut Down.

HARRISBURG (Pa.), July 22.—The great Pennsylvania steel works at Steelton, except the machine shop, boiler shop, foundry and frog departments, shut down this morning on account of the disagreement on the wage scale. There has been no trouble so far. It is understood the company will attempt to resume with non-union men.

The employees of the frog and signal departments quit work before noon and joined the strikers.

An Iowa Investment Company in Financial Trouble. COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa), July 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The Kimball-Champ Investment company of this city, with a capital stock of $300,000, assigned today for the benefit of creditors. Messrs. Kimball and Champ heads of the company, also did a general banking business. Before the failure of the investment company, there was on deposit in the bank about $50,000 including $1700 Potawatomi county money. The County Treasurer drew out this amount just before the assignment was filed. Some other depositors got out their money also, but the larger part of the deposits are now in the hands of the assignee. The attorney for the assignee says the causes of the assignment were many, but chief among them was the total failure of borrowers in Nebraska to pay interest.

Portuguese gold and silver have been disappearing from the market. Minister Carvalho intends to remedy the monetary situation on the basis of the coinage of silver pieces of 4000 reis.

A Remarkable Invention. (New York Letter to Chicago Herald.) It is also reported that Mr. Villard is also interested in an invention which may regard as bound to rival the telephone, and perhaps to revolutionize that business. It is an English invention, and the exhibition of it here has attracted a good deal of attention from capitalists. The English Yankee who has invented the machine has constructed an instrument which looks something like an ordinary typewriter. In connection with it is another machine which resembles the common stock-indicator of the exchanges. These recovered and transmitters are to be set up in private houses, exactly as the telephone is, and it is claimed that instead of holding the transmitter to the mouth and the receiver to the ear, a person can sit at the typewriter instrument and write off a message, which is carried on the wires to any place to which it is switched exactly as a telephone message is, and there it will be recorded as the stock indicator records its messages; that is, in plain type. Any person, it is said, can operate the instrument. Scientific men do not agree wholly about the merits of the invention—some of them declaring that it is little more than a toy; others are enthusiastic in its praise and regard it as the most important of recent electrical developments. It is to be inferred that capitalists are favorably impressed by it, for it is said the company with many millions of capital has been organized to operate it, and necessarily as a rival of the telephone.

LOCAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A Big Evening at the Barracks—Various Locals—Points About People—Brevities.

Editor Times: I am one of the signers to a call for a mass meeting of citizens at Williams Hall tonight to obtain the expression of the community on the railroad rate matter, which now so squarely confronts us.

I want to specially urge here that there be a large attendance. Let everyone who has formed a decided opinion on the matter—and few there are who have not—turn out and publicly voice their sentiments. Certainly we have here to face no more serious question for a long time, and before Council takes final action it is highly important that the people express themselves so forcibly one way or the other that there can be no misunderstanding how they stand.

The time for action is short; let us make the most of it.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

You can run against scores of citizens who are willing to solemnly swear that there are no mosquitoes in their homes. It is possible that mosquitoes have conscientious scruples about sojourning among people who have no respect for truth.

Attend the mass meeting at Williams Hall tonight. The time to discuss the matter is before the Council acts upon the franchise, not after.

The idea is generally prevalent that the coming fall and winter will be seasons of great prosperity in our midst, an idea which seems to be well founded on facts.

How many people know how to account for the thousands of houseflies that make their appearance suddenly every spring. This is accounted for by the remarkable fecundity of the fly. A few individuals survive the winter in the torpid state. With the first warm days they lay their eggs.

"When deposited under favorable conditions," says a St. Louis paper, "these eggs hatch in from twelve to twenty-four hours, and in twelve days the worm changes into a nymph and in ten days more into a perfect fly. A fly will lay four times during the summer, about eighty eggs each time, and careful calculations have demonstrated that the descendants of a single insect, from the first of June to the end of September, exceed 2,000,000. Were it not for bats, insect-eating birds and the innumerable microscopic parasites with which the fly is particularly afflicted, there would be no worse pest in the world than the fly."

A visitor yesterday asked THE TIMES reporter whether Mr. Wilson is a good place to go to become invigorated. There is no better place in the country for this sort of thing.

Co. B will have its first real taste of army life next month. The members, however, are of the proper material to prove equal to the emergency.

A Big Meeting at the Barracks Tuesday Night.

The Salvation Army barracks were packed on Tuesday evening on the occasion of a special meeting, which was presided over by several distinguished officers from abroad. The monotony of the preliminary street parade was varied by the music of an accordion as manipulated by one of the visitors, and the removal of one of the privates by a buggy in which was seated a lady who had lost control of her horse. The red-shirted veterans, however, came up smiling, and proceeded to march as if nothing had happened.

At the barracks Adj. Bovill of Los Angeles assumed command and succeeded in keeping everyone present in a good humor by his smiling countenance and incessant flow of Irish wit. Capt. Hanson led the singing, and Miss Burgess sang a solo. Another visitor, who was spoken of as the worst enemy the saloon-keepers of Los Angeles have, had a few words to say, after which two new members were sworn in. A number of prominent citizens were present.

Tuesday Night Attractions.

The Methodist Tabernacle and church were both ablaze with light on Tuesday evening. In the Tabernacle Dr. Henson entertained an audience of fair proportions by a lecture on the comprehensive and interesting subject of "Fools." Those present speak of the address as abounding in humor and full of good things expressed in a novel manner. In the church a social was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The programme previously printed was carried out and afforded much enjoyment to the many present. Refreshments were served upstairs at reasonable rates, and a satisfactory sum of money was netted therefrom.

BREVITIES.

No frost was observed yesterday.

Co. B will hold a semi-weekly drill tomorrow evening.

Frank Polley is winning quite a reputation as an athlete.

The first rehearsal of the Mascot will be held this evening.

Board of Trade meeting in Williams Hall tomorrow afternoon.

The tennis players will hold their annual weekly meet this afternoon.

Dr. Evans yesterday removed a large tumor from the knee of a valuable horse.

Tomorrow is the date fixed for the oil rats on the new trail to go into effect.

There are a good many men in town who will take in the Twelve Temptations this week.

Miss E. Galley of Marion, O., arrived yesterday.

RECOGNITION DAY.

How It Was Observed by the Chautauquans.

THE GRADUATING EXERCISES
A Class of Twenty-seven Receive Their Diplomas—Election of Officers—The Evening Programme.

Recognition day was celebrated with great honors at Long Beach yesterday. Chautauquans who have not before been present came down to the commencement, and Chautauqua colors were everywhere visible.

At 10:30 the different classes of the Chautauquans formed in line at the northwest corner of the tabernacle grounds and to the inspiring music of the cornet, played by the lady cornetist of the Unique's concert club—Miss Pearl Noble—marched in review. The parade was notable for the small number of men and the large number of young ladies taking part. Four arches, representing history, science, literature and faith, were on the line of march and under which the procession passed to seats in the tabernacle. The exercises were in charge of the Chautauqua Literary Society of California. The platform was adorned by the flora of this lovely place, and on a blue and crimson background in letters of gold were the mottoes of the association. On top were the letters C. L. S. C. and underneath the mottoes, "Olympian," "So run that you may obtain," and "Chautauqua-California."

The exercises on the platform were of an interesting character; the officers of the association and the Chautauqua chorus of young ladies, stationed in the midst of fragrant flowers making an artistic living picture. Miss Pearl Noble played one of her most difficult and effective cornet solos, and Prof. Cole's chorus sang some of their sweetest songs.

The Chautauqua's ritual was sung and chanted, President Weiler leading and the chorus responding.

The chorus then sang, "Break Thou the Bread of Life," after which President Weiler introduced Chicago's favorite lecturer, Rev. Dr. Hensen, who gave the classes one of his humorous discourses, coupled with the soundest advice as regards their future conduct and studies. He outlined in a humorous vein his own academic career and welcomed the graduates in most feeling tones to the greatest of all educational institutions, the Chautauqua. The doctor on being introduced to the large audience was accorded the distinction of that most flattering salute, the graceful and poetic "Chautauqua."

At the conclusion of the lecture the graduating class of '91 were invited to come to the platform at their names were called. Short addresses to the class were made by Secretary Cole and President Weiler, who presented the following graduates to the public:

Cynthia M. Bishop, Flora S. Gleason, Charlotte E. Whittemore, Mrs. Maria C. Tyler, Vesta A. Olmstead, Fannie M. Husk, Miss Bertha Miller, Mrs. Alta M. Sanders, Addie M. Mead, Mrs. Sarah M. Cool, Mrs. Charles Winkler, Mrs. H. C. Conner, M. G. Ware, Mrs. Mary E. Fiala, Carrie E. Lathrop, Mrs. Ella M. Strang, Ada May Legg, Esther E. Stockwell, V. Arvey, Gladys, Mrs. Jennie M. Henderson, Mrs. Laura R. Stoddard, Mrs. S. M. Mead, Mrs. E. M. Dinsmore, Miss Harriet Julia Barron and Miss Florence Mills. There was only one man in the class of twenty-seven.

At 1:30 p.m. Secretary Cole made his annual report, which was adopted, and the various committees were appointed, among which were the Endowment and Nominating committees. Resolutions were offered and adopted, one of which was that the Endowment Committee be instructed to advertise for bids or gratuities to secure the Chautauquans a permanent place for meeting, to have a reasonable time in which to listen to propositions from places making offers. Secretary Cole says forty acres of land will be necessary, ten for building and thirty for cup purposes.

The Nominating Committee then reported the following names for officers for the ensuing season of 1891-92: S. H. Weiler, president; Prof. W. S. Monroe, vice-president; George R. Crow, secretary; C. A. Baskerville, treasurer; Rev. Charles Winkler, superintendent of instruction; Auditing Committee, Rev. Mr. Healy, W. W. Lowe and W. F. Hammond; Endowment Committee, George R. Crow, W. W. Lowe and Hon. Charles Potter; Executive Committee, Lucy D. More, A. F. M. Strong, Hon. Harvey Potter, G. S. Crowbridge, E. D. Cook, F. S. Wallace, W. W. Lowe, C. J. Davis, Charles Winkler, George R. Crow, Vista A. Olmstead.

At 4 p.m. the banquet was largely attended, the refreshments being of a superior order. Toasts were made and responded to and short talks made by some of the best speakers, among whom were Rev. M. Weiler, Healy, Hensen and Prof. Ivey and Dickinson.

Miss Jennie of the "Uniques" whistled, and Miss Jennie Gray of the same company gave that pathetic story, "The Engineer's Warning," so effectively as to bring tears to the eyes of many of those present.

EVENING SESSING.
The musical prelude last evening was under the management of Mrs. E. J. Valentine, when an interesting programme was rendered.

According to the secretary's report the assembly is in arrears to the total amount of $1000. An attempt was made last evening to liquidate the debt and met with very gratifying results, over $400 being raised. Tomorrow a detailed report of the exact condition of the association will be given.

Dr. F. S. Hensen delivered the last of his lecture series, "Grumblers," and defined his subject as follows:

"In heaven there are no grumblers—such makes heaven; and there are no others, that makes hell." Witty, bright and thoughtful throughout, the lecture was greeted throughout with the applause of appreciation.

The Government Baking Powder Tests.

The latest investigations by the United States and Canadian Governments show the Royal Baking Powder a cream of tartar powder superior to all others in leavening strength.

Statements by other manufacturers to the contrary have been declared by the official authorities falsifications of the official reports.

A CAUSELESS SCARE.

An Incident of the Ships at San Diego.

(San Diego Sun.)

While a few invited guests were being shown over the Charleston this morning, the Quartermaster Anderson signalled to the officer of the deck, First Lieut. Todd, and informed him that the Itata was lifting her anchors.

This information was at once conveyed to Capt. Remy, who evidently instructed his first officer to call the men to arms. Respecting the quarter deck the bugle sounded the call for the first division to quarters, and again for the second division to man the starboard guns.

When the first division, numbering eighty men, were in their positions on the starboard side with their muskets and a supply of ammunition, and simultaneously the second division, numbering ninety men, had the four 6-inch cannon on the starboard side loaded and trained on the port side of the Itata. The whole preparation did not seem to occupy more than two minutes, and no sooner were the men ready for action than the bugle sounded for the men to retire from their posts.

The cause of this hasty preparation was the Itata was the result of a misapprehension—as to the vessel's movements. Acting upon the authority of Marshal Gird, who is in charge of the Itata, the men set to work to free the Itata's anchors, which were known to be foul, and this required the raising of the anchors to the ship's side. It was when the first anchor had reached the surface of the water on the starboard side that the commotion started on board the cruiser, and innocent of the excitement that this work aroused, it was completed, and soon again both anchors were let go and the vessel again safely held.

A visit to the Itata showed but further proof that there was no intention of her lifting her anchors for the purpose of leaving the harbor, as neither the captain nor chief engineer were on board, they having both left the ship for town early in the morning.

The excitement on board the Charleston, though only of a few minutes' duration, was appreciated by the sailors, and while they believed that the orders were given to shell the Itata if she did not let go her anchors, they were ready to obey, and acted with a promptness that was indeed creditable to them.

Gov. Markham's Condition.
Private Secretary Higgins, who has been with Gov. Markham at Pasadena for several days, returned to Sacramento Sunday, and in reference to the Governor's condition said:

"The Governor was confined to his bed but a few days; he is rapidly recovering, and fully expects that his short fishing expedition to the San Gabriel River will fully restore him. He has had a great deal of business, official and private, to attend to, but has been equal to the task. His daughter Alice has been sick for two weeks with the fever, but is now convalescing, and the Governor is waiting for her to recover sufficiently to accompany him. They leave tomorrow, and the Governor expects to be in Sacramento in about two weeks. His wound is now not troubling him, and his only sickness is a weak, nervous condition, consequent upon overwork for the past year and anxiety for his family in their sickness."

New Suits.
Among the documents filed with the County Clerk yesterday were the preliminary papers in the following new cases: Alfred S. Hartwell vs. Charles French; suit to foreclose a mortgage for $23,234.

Mary E. Haynes vs. George E. Lawrence et al.; suit to foreclose a mortgage for $200. C. F. Heinzenman vs. D. Cunningham et al.; suit in ejectment and for $500 damages for the unlawful detention of the property.

Prof. W. T. Wenzell of the College of Pharmacy of the State University, after actual analyses made by him, "pronounces the Royal Baking Powder the strongest and purest baking powder before the public." The Royal Baking Powder destroys the dyspeptic qualities of food.

Any amount of business was done on Spring street in the business part of the city yesterday afternoon on account of the unpropitious condition of that street. Quite a little wind was blowing, and as the dust was very bad it found its way in almost every crevice on the street, and considerable annoyance was caused. There are plenty of sprinkling carts in the city, and the merchants want to know why they are not used.
